Forecast for Friday 04 Mar 2022

Weather: Dry through the early hours with largely clear skies near the west coast, high cloud further east. A mainly dry morning with good sunny spells, perhaps the odd shower along the coast. Sunshine and scattered showers from early afternoon, these falling as snow above 600m, perhaps heavy at times. Showers die out to give a dry largely clear evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 80%

Low Cloud and visibility: Mostly excellent. Brief deteriorations to poor in passing snow showers, but these should be short lived. Cloud well broken up and mostly above the summits, but occasionally down to 1000-1200m.
